MRS. LULA VANN FULTON, ARK.

Suggests to Suffering Women the Road to Health

Fulton, Arkansas.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a soreness in my side. I would suffer so badly every month from my waist down that I could not be on my feet half the time. I was not able to do my work without help. I saw your Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and gave it a fair trial. Now I am able to do my work and don't even have a headache every month. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound enough and highly recommend it to those who have troubles like mine. I am willing for these facts to be used as a testimonial to lead all who suffer with female troubles, as I did, to the right road to health."—Mrs. LULA VANN, Box 43, Fulton, Arkansas.

It's this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by word of mouth and by letter, one woman to another, that should cause you to consider taking this well-known medicine, if you are troubled with such symptoms as painful periods, weak, nervous feelings, miserable pains in your back, and cannot work at certain times.

GIVE THEM Baker's Cocoa TO DRINK

THE almost unceasing activity with which children work off their surplus energy makes good and nutritious food a continual necessity. A Winter Walk in Maine.

Our correspondent from Casco writes: "Wish you could have been with me on my 'hike' Sunday. I collected a squirrel nest, a crow's nest, saw six kinds of winter birds, five partridges and all kinds of tracks made by them and other birds and animals, especially the grey and red squirrel. I saw a big porcupine's hole in a ledge but my experience has been to keep at a distance and fire. I shot one, weighing thirteen pounds two years ago. I kept the fur from the stomach as it was so soft and pliable. When you visit the museum at Portland look at the big turtle I killed by shooting through the neck. Rabbits are plentiful here and foxes also, a big red fox was killed last Friday. This is a great country."—Lewiston Journal.

RIVALRY FOR DARDANELLES

May Result in League of Nations Taking It Over

CONSTANT FRICTION AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Between France and Great Britain It Has Become Known

Paris, March 25. (By the Associated Press).—The League of Nations is likely to be asked to take control of the Dardanelles, it has become known despite the secrecy with which the allied foreign ministers have invested their deliberations here.

The rivalry between France and Great Britain in the Near East and the constant friction which has existed between them at Constantinople are pointed to in international political circles here as showing the practical impossibility of applying any scheme of internationalization to their straits that would suit all the allies.

For that reason, Premier Poincaré, the Marquis Curzon, British foreign secretary, and the Italian foreign minister, M. Schanzer, have discussed the eventuality of asking the league to relieve them of this burden.

The deceased was born in Ireland 92 years ago and came to this country as a young man. He was an efficient gardener for Massachusetts parties and married in Lowell Elizabeth O'Herin.

Coming to Washington county, they bought a farm near the Conway place on the Moretown road, a place still owned by Mr. Hennessey, and where until recently he has spent most of his time. Mrs. Hennessey died about 24 years ago. Mr. Hennessey is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Mary Curtien of Worcester, Mass., and Mrs. Elizabeth Benoit of Waterbury. There are 13 grandchildren. Mr. Hennessey was a character all by himself, most interesting to visit with, interested in the good of all and filled with Irish wit and stories. His personality was a strong one and will be much missed.

THESE EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS OF ROUND OAK USERS

Their Names and Addresses Will Be Given On Request

Does It Heat the Whole House?

"The Round Oak you installed in our house last Fall has done all you claimed for it. Every room up and downstairs is warm and comfortable." Letter No. 507, January 20, 1920.

Is It Clean?

"It stands for comfort and economy and is absolutely dustless, which makes it a great pleasure for the housewife." Letter No. 500, Nov. 15, 1920.

Is It Simple to Operate?

"I always plan to have enough coal in the fire pot to run the heater till the next regular time for adding fuel, with the result that last winter no one except me ever had to make a trip to the cellar to see the heater. The women, and even the children, open or close the drafts as occasion demands, by merely going to the regulator. I failed to realize how completely free from care of the heater the women were, till some months after it had been in use my mother was showing it to someone and I heard her say, 'This is the fire pot door but I have never opened it.'" Letter No. 509, Nov. 15, 1920.

Does It Save Fuel?

"We have had weather from freezing point to 18 degrees below zero. The amount of fuel used is very little more than what we formerly used in one stove in our sitting room, whereas now we have the whole house warmed on approximately the same amount of fuel." Letter No. 507, Jan. 20, 1920.

Is It a Good Investment?

"I think it is a good paying investment for anyone whose home has a Round Oak, and let me tell you, I recommend the Round Oak to many in Barre. You have sold about ten through me." Letter No. 513, Oct. 25, 1920.
